This report is the result of a team of scientists from relevant IUFRO units who focused on the potential of FLR to contribute to climate change mitigation and adaptation, the linkages between adaptation and mitigation, and the reciprocal benefits to FLR.

Come and collect your card drive copy of the book, meet the authors and listen to presentations by authors and by donor representative Horst Freiberg, German Federal Ministry for the Environment, Nature, Conservation, Building and Nuclear Safety.

At 17: 35 there will be a best practices sharing session on Tackling Complexity in Forest and Landscape Restoration also at the Nature and Climate Change pavilion!
